Rooted in Tradition, Fueled by Strategic Growth

"As we go on this journey together, we will always stay rooted in our vision for Inspiring Jewish Homes."

We entered 2022 with some big questions. How had the past two years changed the landscape and needs of young adults, and would we continue to be able to meet them where they were on their Jewish journeys—spiritually, mentally and physically?

Moishe House's core values and mission kept us grounded and focused as we grappled with these questions. We built upon our solid roots of peer-led, home-based engagement to branch out to meet the evolving needs of young adults. Like a tree that adapts to changing conditions, Moishe House was built to meet young adults wherever they are during this increasingly critical phase of life.

In 2022, our community builders expressed an increased desire to dive deeper into their Judaism through exploration of texts, rituals and lifecycle events. It seems that a seed was planted during the pandemic, perhaps from the loneliness and isolation that many young adults experienced, driving them to look for deeper spiritual explorations with their peers. This year, that included everything from Shabbat dinners to intense text study at a Shabbat Retreat to delving into pre-marriage learnings with Base rabbis.

We're thrilled to share that in 2022 we reached, and in some cases even surpassed, pre-pandemic engagement and programmatic levels, positioning us to reach even more young adults in 2023 and beyond.

The Jewish community is more diverse than ever before and we are continuing to grow our suite of programs and leaders to ensure that we are serving as many young adults as possible. This includes initiatives such as Base, expanding our geographic footprint globally and investing in under-served Jewish communities.

Thank you for supporting our growth as we make vibrant Jewish life more relatable, exciting and accessible for young adults throughout the globe.

As we go on this journey together, we will always stay rooted in our vision for Inspiring Jewish Homes.

HOUSES & PODS

Our Flagship Models for Building Jewish Community

Our organization is rooted in the home-based, peer-led programming that happens in Moishe Houses (MHs) and Moishe Pods (MPs)—where young adults can find their voice and place in Jewish communities that are meaningful and relevant to them.

Holiday & Ritual Programs Helped Young Adults Ease Back into Large-Scale Events

In 2022, creative and diverse ritual and holiday programming regularly drew 50-100 participants. Moishe House provides low-barrier opportunities for those seeking Jewish community, making these programs a crucial piece of each House and Pod's offerings.

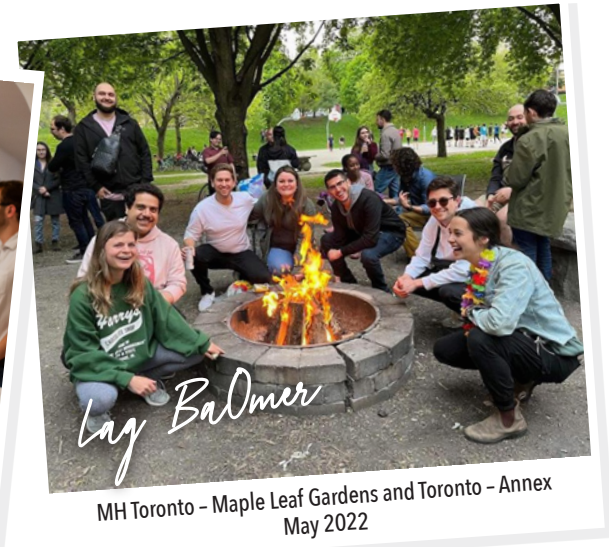

"It's really great to know that there is and always will be upcoming Moishe House programs and opportunities to be with community and to ground in spirituality."

Training Conferences Help Residents Expand their Local Impact

In 2022, we held three in-person Training Conferences. The excitement was palpable as residents came together in person for the first time since 2019. Throughout each weekend-long gathering, participants engaged in Shabbat experiences, Jewish learning—and deep-dives into Jewish community building best practices—while connecting with each other and exploring new ways to cultivate vibrant spaces for their peers back at home.

The Power of Our Global Network

Moishe House communities have thrived in Ukraine for the past 13+ years and continue to persevere through the difficult circumstances brought on by the Russia-Ukraine War. Despite the war, our community builders in Ukraine doubled down on their commitment to bringing people together to lead over 200 programs in 2022. Many programs were focused on war relief efforts, while others provided a sense of normalcy. From volunteering with refugees and offering opportunities for community members to work with trauma counselors, to Passover Seders and Shabbat dinners with air raid sirens echoing in the background, the Moishe House communities in Ukraine brought stability, consistency—and even joy to their peers in 2022.

Upon the outbreak of the war, we assembled a response team and launched the Ukraine Relief Fund for Moishe House communities in Ukraine and other affected regions. We witnessed the power of our global network as we raised over $670,000 in just a few weeks. We were uniquely positioned to enable our community builders to help on the ground immediately—providing supplies, food, water and other support in real time.

NEW HOUSES

Spotlight

MH Ramat Gan – RSJ
December 2022

In 2022, Israel became a central and vital hub of MH's Russian-Speaking Jewish (RSJ) community as many Jewish young adults from the Former Soviet Union (FSU) relocated after being displaced by the war. MH Tel Aviv – RSJ and MH Haifa – RSJ, which both opened right before the war broke out, emerged as critical places for connection for displaced individuals throughout the year.

A third RSJ House, MH Ramat Gan – RSJ, opened outside of Tel Aviv in December and quickly became another space for refugees to gather for Jewish ritual and learning and bond over their shared experiences with the war.

MHWOW Nurtures Community Growth through Dynamic Programming

Over the past two years, we have widened the MHWOW tent to bring more high quality, peer-led programming to Jewish young adults. MHWOW hosts can now begin their MHWOW journeys without prior Moishe House experience as a resident or Retreat participant—meaning, once they are trained by the MHWOW team, even more young Jewish leaders can create meaningful programs for their peers around the world.

In 2022, MHWOW expanded to several new locations in North America and globally, including:

- Honolulu, Hawaii
- Burlington, Vermont
- Charleston, South Carolina

UKRAINE Spotlight

Like many Ukrainian Jews, Kyiv MHWOW host Yevheniia Vodolazska, fled to Israel in 2022 upon the outbreak of the war. Despite the many challenges she faced, Yevheniia immediately jumped into creating programming to support her Ukrainian peers in Tel Aviv and found ways to support her community at home—including organizing a program to send supplies to her brother, Daniel, back in Kyiv, which was funded by the Ukraine Relief Fund.

Measuring MHWOW Growth & Depth

MHWOW was reimaged in 2020 to provide a leaner, more efficient structure with more engaged and committed hosts. As a result of these changes, in 2022, each host led 118% more programs for 106% more attendees, (compared to 2019) with our staff able to offer personal guidance and training to each host.

Jewish Summer Camp for Adults

At Camp Nai Nai Nai, young adults disconnect from the stressors of daily life and tap into the joy of childhood summer camp. Through the Nai experience, campers can create core Jewish memories that lead them toward lifelong participation in Jewish life. In 2022, over 280 campers shed the 9-to-5, flocking to URJ Camp Newman in California over Memorial Day Weekend and Capital Camps in Pennsylvania over Labor Day Weekend. Campers and staff kept the connections alive by leading six pop-up Camp Nai Nai Nai reunions.

"I joined 4HQ to learn more about Israel. I did – but more importantly, I gained a new perspective on learning, a new appreciation for the value of questioning, of curiosity, of respectful debate."

– ESTHER GOPIN, MHWOW HOST, BROOKLYN, NEW YORK

Founded by MH in partnership with JAFI and Makom, 4HQ was inspired by the last verse of Hatikvah – the Israeli national anthem – and explores Israel education through four question areas around: "to be" (security), "a people" (Jewish peoplehood), "free" (democracy) and "in our land" (the Land of Israel).

Through 4HQ, Moishe House brings immersive Israel experiences and dialogue to life – addressing the deep demand for opportunities to dig into more complex questions about Israel.

In June 2022, we relaunched 4HQ for the first time since 2019 with a cohort of 27. This also marked the first year that we opened this program up to participants from outside of North America, with eight participants from six countries. During the five months after the trip, each participant hosted programming in their community using the 4HQ framework. There were 53 programs for 238 unique participants.

In November, the cohort gathered again for the 4HQ Reunion Retreat outside of Washington, D.C., to share how they were turning their 4HQ experiences into meaningful and thoughtful programs.

BASE

Strengthening Roots through Connections to Rabbis

Through Base, young adults cultivate 1:1 relationships with rabbis and Jewish educators, enhancing the Moishe House ecosystem and the opportunities that it provides for Jewish young adults. Bases enable young adults to connect with clergy in their homes—where the rabbi and their partner host Jewish ritual and holiday celebrations and engage in robust Jewish learning sessions, while also providing pastoral care and officiating at lifecycle events for community members.

Base Expansion

In 2022, we opened two new Base locations—Base Bay in Oakland, CA, and Base Denver in Colorado. We also launched four Based-In pilot programs as part-time Bases led by rabbis who are not in pulpit roles.

Planting Seeds for Future Growth

Like a tree that requires fertile soil to grow and thrive, we have cultivated a culture of innovation to nurture new ideas that can drive Moishe House and the field of Jewish community building into the future. Highlights from 2022 include:

- Launching the Powered By innovation engine, through which young adults pitched new program ideas to Moishe House including the Pop-Up Judaism Project in Washington, D.C. and Mizrahim: A Summit for Our Community in Los Angeles.
- Opening 4 Based-Ins (part-time Bases) in Ann Arbor, Boston, Harlem and Philadelphia.
- Researching how antisemitism affects young Jews and how we can help to fight against it, culminating in an antisemitism training with the ADL for all Moishe House residents.
- Laying the groundwork for Young Families Pods, with four Pods opening in January 2023.
- Sponsoring our first-ever Artist-in-Residence, Miriam Anzovin, the creator of a Talmud learning TikTok series, DAF Reactions.
